Introducing LSTMs

LSTMs are a special type of recurrent neural network that address the limitations of traditional RNNs. Unlike standard RNNs, LSTMs utilize a unique cell structure with forget, input, and output gates to effectively manage the flow of information and retain long-term dependencies in sequential data.